*Kindly note: The briefs on companies that have recently released their financial results are highlighted in light grey for easy identification.

WHAT TO EXPECT THIS WEEK:

We envisage that the equities market will witness continued mixed reactions of cherry picking and profit taking from investors in the week. Additionally, we expect "knee-jerk" negative reactions from investors on banking stocks in response to the recent Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) directive for an increase in Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR) to 27.5% from 22.5% as this is expected to negatively impact their bottom line growth going forward.

In general, barring any inflow of positive market driving news, we opine that the equities market may close marginally negative in the current week.

We recommend that investors should keep a well-diversified portfolio in a bid to avoid concentration risk and we advise investments in fundamentally sound stocks with a consistent dividend payment history.

MTNN reported an EBITDA margin of 53.72% in Q3'19 (vs 43.19% in Q3'18) due to the 39.34% growth in EBITDA to ₦460.10B (+39.34% YoY). The Company's Other Income grew by 3.90% YoY to ₦70M. MTNN's Net Finance Cost came in at ₦74.25B (vs ₦34.79B in Q3'18).
- In FY'18, MTNN's Revenue advanced by 17.13% YoY from ₦887.18bn in FY'17 to ₦1.04tn, while Profit After Tax jumped by 79.70% YoY from ₦81.07B to ₦145.69B. EPS also surged by 79.70% YoY from 398kobo to 716kobo. TTM EPS holds at 716kobo.
- The Company's surge in topline Revenue was largely buoyed by the 19.00% increase in Voice revenue in the period (FY'18 ₦783bn vs. ₦660bn in FY'17). Voice revenue contributed 75% of MTNN's revenue in the period. Direct Network Operating Costs in the period increased by 13.85% YoY to ₦305.52bn from ₦268.36bn mainly due to the 14.75% YoY jump in Base Transceiver Stations (BTS) leases from ₦203.25bn to ₦233.22bn. Operating profit for MTNN settled at ₦266.11bn in FY'18, up by 35.82% YoY from ₦195.93bn in FY'17, in spite of the 13.58% YoY increase in Interconnect costs to ₦95.63bn and 21.67% YoY hike in Other Operating Expenses to ₦67.80bn (due to a ₦7.75bn bad debt that was written off). Consequently, the MTNN's PBT and PAT jumped by 105.16% and 79.70% YoY to ₦221.34bn and ₦145.69bn respectively.
- Further to our pre-listing recommendation of MTNN we note the three main reasons below as pointers to why the stock is expected to perform credily well on the local bourse.
- NCC's Penalty Payment Obligation: The Nigerian Communication Commission (NCC) imposed a fine of ₦330bn in Jun-16 due to disputes over the disconnection of unregistered and improperly registered SIMs. In the course of 3 years, MTNN has obliged the NCC with the full payment of its fine, with the last installment of ₦55bn paid on 24-May-19. This releases MTNN from all imposed punitive obligations by the NCC.
- Imminent Earnings Jump: MTNN wrapped up the payment of the balance of the NCC imposed fine (₦110bn) in two tranches in H1'19 (₦220bn already paid in five tranches as at FYE'18) with the last ₦55bn being paid on 24-May-19. With this done, the Profit After Tax position of the Company is anticipated to increase by over ₦120bn (FY'18 PAT: ₦145.69bn) noting that c. ₦20bn was paid as settlement for the Certificate of Capital Importation issues it had with the CBN last year. This will create an additional windfall of earnings to the equity holders of the firm from 2020 and beyond and also considerably improve the company's dividend payout.
- MTN: Payment Service Bank (PSB) License: A key booster to a positive post-listing financial performance by MTN Nigeria is anticipated to be the PSB License secured by the mobile operator in Dec-18 from the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) for the take-off of its mobile money operation across the country. With a subscriber base of over 65 million users (38% market share by GSM operators) as at Feb-19, MTN Nigeria Communications Plc. will leverage massively on its market leader position to provide easy, fast and secured mobile money facility to an estimated 40 million to 60 million addressable unbanked adult population in Nigeria. The broad network coverage of MTN across rural areas in the country when compared to its peers places it at a vantage position to corner a sizeable portion of the mobile money market once it goes into full operation. Furthermore, MTNN is expected to leverage majorly on its existing operations and network infrastructure for an efficient and seamless rollout of its mobile money business. This will translate to a significant revenue stream in addition to what it currently has. The mobile money service offering of the MTN Group is in operation in over ten African countries.
- Inclusion of MTNN on the MSCI Frontier Index: On 07-Aug-19, Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) announced that MTN Nigeria Communications Plc. (MTNN) will be included in the MSCI Frontier Index on the 27-Aug-19 based on its MSCI Equity Indexes August 2019 Index Review. There will be no deletions from the MSCI Frontier Markets Index.
- The Company declared an Interim dividend of 295Kobo/share. (MTNN's declared a dividend of 548kobo for FY'18).
